Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

A writer chap in Kansas sends out a column called: "Do you ever stop to think?" Rather an arresting idea until examined critically. Imagine all of us stopping whatever we are doing, to think. As a matter of fact busy people do most of their thinking while they are doing. Thinking is not a process which ordinarily requires stopping. A lawyer or doctor hurrying to an appointment rarely halts in his tracks to think. It would be a queer world indeed if thinking were divorced from action. Really when we stop, it is to dream, and not to think.

It is difficult for the human eye to see growth of any kind. Under the microscope the eye may perceive the actual growth of certain bacteria. But the growth of a child, of a plant, and even of a community is so gradual that the eye fails to perceive the gradations. But by contracts, by remembered measurements, it is easy to perceive growth. Nevada County two years ago, contrasted with Nevada County today shows a very remarkable growth. Two years ago, in March, in Nevada County, there were 1200 miners employed. This June there are more than 2200 men employed, a difference of 1000. These thousand men have undoubtedly brought at least 2000 others with them, wives, children or relatives into this county. This would mean an increase of population to the county, credited to the mining industry alone, of 3,000.

But the merchants, the restaurants, the beauty shops, the hotels, the contractors and builders, have also increased their forces and augmented the ranks of our business community to serve this influx of miners. Another thousand population has been added to the county, it is safe to say, to take care of the needs of this 3,000 increase concerned in the mining industry. Thus in two years we may conservatively estimate Nevada County's population has increased by 4,000.

The publicity the county has received through the Nevada City Nugget, whose tabulations of operating mines, miners employed, and monthly payroll published once a month, quoted far and near in mining journals and metropolitan financial pages, has focused attention of both investors and those seeking employment upon this county. It is the complaint of some of the older and more conservative citizens that the result of this publicity has been the influx of too many unemployed seeking jobs, and too little capital seeking investment. This is probably true and yet the net result has been an increase in taxable values in the county, a building activity that falls little short of a boom, an advance in rentals, a scarcity of housing and of store premises, that affords an opportunity, without parallel in California, to those investors who prefer to put their money into real estate and its improvement rather than mining.

The Nugget makes no ridiculous claim to having brought ali this about. The underlying reason, of course, is the increase in the price of gold. It only claims to have called the attention of the world outside the county, to the unusually favorable conditions which here exist, both for employment and for capital investment. In doing this, it goes without saying that we must take the bitter with the sweet. Peatake the bitter with the sweet. Peowherever they are. But we will submit they have not been as heavy a burden here as they have in thousands of other localities.

The benefit of this publicity given monthly to mining and mining opportunities cannot be measured in any certain terms or figures. The general result, however, is obvious. Grass Valley and Nevada City are growing closer together along the four-mile highway between them. Even now, employment, particularly in the skilled trades, is depleting the ranks of the SERA. For instance a skilled worker on the municipal park project, yesterday gave notice that his services were no longer available. He had found employment at $110 per month with board and lodging provided. This is one of many straws in the wind and significant.

No, we do not stop to think. This column is done in our stride, filling up the interstices in the day. A day given over to persuading more readers to subscribe to and more business men to advertise in the Nugget, and between whiles gathering up sheaves of news of Nevada County, promoting in a broad way its growth and prosperity. Calling attention occasionally, as in the present instance, to having helped, somewhat, to bring about the present prosperour conditions.

CLARK CARTER TELLS OF NAVAL ACADEMY LIFE

Clark Carter, home on a furlough after completing his four years at the naval academy, in response to inquiries concerning the academy, gives this interview to the Nugget:

"The Naval Academy course is a long and hard road but it must be that way in order to accomplish its purpose, Rated as one of the best engineering schools in the country, it is hard to get into and once there it requires a little extra effort to stay. When you have finished, you have besides your diploma and ring, the age old expression of the service, "well done."

"There are several openings available for one who wants to enter. There are congresional appointments, senatorial appointments, and presidenal appointments and many have joined the regular navy or marine corps and entered from the service. The examinations are nearly as varied as the appointments. There are what are termed regular examinations, in six subjects, substantiating examinations in two subjects and college certificates. There is only one physical examination available for entrance and that must be taken at the academy. Preliminary physical examinations may be taken by permit from the navy department and are held at all navy yards and stations. These do not in any way replace the examination at the academy.

"The four year course covers many varied subjects all o which are deemed necessary to a naval officer's life. Desciptive geometry, marine engineering, electrical engineering, radio, seamanship, navigation, economics, government, mathematics, ordnance and gunnery, English, history, foreign languages, and practical work in all of the above subjects. Drills are a daily routine in infantry, seamanship, ordnance or physical training.

"The athletics are as varied as the intellectual studies. Football, soccer, cross country running, basket ball, boxing, wrestling, swimming, water polo, gym, fencing, small bore rifles, crew, lacrosse, track, baseball ,tenenis and outdoor rifle. Whether the entantr goes out o any o the above sports or not, he is required to pass strength, gym, swimming, boxing, wrestling, fencing and dancing tests.

"For those not interested in the sports, there are such other activities as Lucky Bag (four-year book of the graduating class), Log (weekly magazine), Trident (bi-monthly periodical), Art Choir, Reception Committee, Musical Club, N. A. 10 (dance orchestra), Glee Club, Mandolin Club, Concert Orchestra, Masqueraders, Stage Gang, Business Gang, Electrical Gang, Radio Club, Pep Committe, and Cheer Leaders.

"At the end of the first year a practice cruise is made, usualyy lasting for two months. Then comes the one month of well earned leave. At the end of the second year the two months spent before in the practice cruise and the month o leave are all spent at the academy with practical instruction in such subjects as destroyers, aviation, submarine, machine gun, etc. Another cruise finishes the third year and at the end of the fourth, comes graduation, and a commission or civilian life.

"In so many words, this is what you can expect from the academy, at least that is what you can grasp. The other intangible thing which you take away stays with you the rest of your life even when the others are forgotten."

Mrs. A. Sauvee and niece, Miss Helen Provines, of this city, and Mrs. Sauvee's sisters, Mrs. Harry Clemo and Mrs. Jane Weigel of Grass Valley, motored to Vallejo Friday to attend the graduation exercises of Miss Provines' sister.

Dreamers and Builders

He is tired of endless toiling
In the seething marts of men,
Tired of tearing down, he says,
And of building up again;
And he longs for the peaceful valley
Where he spent his idle youth,
Dreaming the dreams of boyhood
And learning its lessons of truth.

In the maze of alluring visions,
He turns with a weary sigh
From the throbbing heart of the city
Where the tides of life sweep by;
And he yearns for the gentle murmurs
Of a stream that once he knew,
Forgetting that only the builder
Can make his dreams come true.

Go, rear your airy castles
By the river's rippling tide,
Then come with your wistful fancies
And stand by the builder's side;
His soul must capture the vision,
His hands the work must do,
For only the skillful builder
Can make your dreams come true.

Sing then a song of the city
With its turmoil and its strife,
Where dreamers and builders together
Are molding the pattern of life;
Where together they strive for the future
With pride in the work they do,
And the magical task of the builder
Is to make our dreams come true.

JUDGE DENIES MOTION IN PLACER MINE SUIT

A motion to strike out portions of the complaint in the $500,000 suit of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company against hydraulic gold mining operators of the Bear River watershed was denied in an opinion filed last week by Superior Judge J. B. Landis of Placer County, in Auburn.

Judge Landis states in his opinian the motion is overruled without prejudice, which will enable the defendants to renew objections to the original complaint when the case comes to trial in the superior court.

Judge Landis has indicated a willingness to set the case on the July calendar, unless technical actions on the part of the plaintiffs or defendants delay the issue further.

Landis last week also overruled two demurrers based on technical points.

MANY PRIZES FOR SWIM POOL BENEFIT PARTY

The committee of the Woman's Civic Club in charge of arrangements for the big card party to be given by the club at Armory Hall on Friday night reports that it has met with a most generous support of its plans.

No solicitations have been made nor will any be made but many friends have offered prizes for the affair. Needless to say however' all donations will be gratefuly received. Following is the list of donors who already have offered prizes:

Mrs. E. W. Schmidt.
Mrs. F. F. Cassidy.
Miss Brand.
Builders' Supply Company.
(Conner and Foreman).
Nevada City Nugget.
Mrs. Clayton Bennett.
Miss Winnie Mulloy.
Mrs. E. M. Lewis.
Plaza Grocery.
Mrs. A. W. Hoge.
Mrs. Frank Ghidotti.
Mrs. Edward Rose.
Gillett Nursery.

No doubt the generous response to the need for prizes is heightened by the realization that prizes help bring a large attendance and a large attendance is needed for fulfillment of the objective of the party which is to raise money—much money, with which to buy a "vacuum sweeper" for the swimming tank. Everyone seems to believe in a clean pool for the young folks to swim in and is ready to help the Civic Club in this project.

Tickets will be on display at various business houses. BUY ONE—

Is One-House Legislature Coming?

The states of the American Union have been concerned for more than 100 years with the question of unicameral or single house legislatures, and three states have actually had such governing bodies, it is revealed in a study by the Bureau of Public Administration of the University of California, which was made at the request of a number of the members of the 1935 California legislature. A proposition to establish a unicameral legislature in California was voted down in the closing days of the 1935 session.

Pennsylvania tried the experiment from 1776 to 1790, Georgia from 1773 to 1789, and Vermont from 1777 to 1836. Increased interest in the issue in the past thirty years has led to the actual voting of such a legislature in Nebraska through a constitutional amendment. This single house would provide not less than thirty and not more than fifty members. Biennial sessions are provided for and the lieutenant governor is named as presiding officer.

Vermont's sixty-year experiment with a one-house General Assembly was the most notable of its kind in American history, but the unicameral principle has been developing on the continent of Europe for generations. This principle is also embodied in the Constitution of the United States. England, according to some authorities, destroyed the standing of the House of Lords as a coordinate branch of Parliament with the passage of the Parliamentary Act of 1911. Almost without exception the new constitutions of European countries have omitted the establishment of a second chamber with coordinate legislative powers.

The Cherry Carnival at North San Juan was more than usually well attended. San Juan cherries are famous for their luscious flavor and juicy excellence and hundreds made the trip from Grass Valley and Nevada City to participate in the festival. The attendance was greatly increased by means of the truck and amplifier that traversed the streets of Nevada City and Grass Valley Friday afternoon. The truck was manned by Frank Miller, the Singing Andersens — Chris Andersen, Mrs. Andersen, Eric Andersen—and A. Nelson. Songs were interspersed with announcements of the carnival, and 150 paper bags of cherries were distributed. The amplifier was provided by the Kipp Radio service.

Those who attended the San Juan festival witnessed a spirited baseball game and in the evening enjoyed the big dance.

AFTER OFFICE HOURS, ROBERTA AT NEV. THEATRE

"After Office Hours" with Clark Gable, Constance Bennett, Stuart Erwin, and Billie Burke is showing at the Nevada Theatre tonight and Tuesday night and afternoon. The matinee Tuesday afternoon will start at 2:15.

Constance Bennett and Clark Gable, two of the most popular stars on the screen, are teamed for the first time in "After Office Hours," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Maye production coming to the Nevada Theatre. Lavish settings are an important feature of "After Office Hours.

In line with the ranking of the two celebrated stars, Cedric Hinnons, MGM art director, built gorgeous settings depicting a "penthouse boathouse"—something new in bachelor homes—a night club done in nautical design, and various interiors fashioned after the homes of New York notables.

"Roberta," one of the year's best musical romances, starring Irene Dunn, Fred Astaire, and Ginger Rogers, comes to the Nevada Theatre Wednesday night, Thursday afternoon (matinee at 2:15), and Thursday night.

This picture unites Irene Dunn, the singing star with the golden voice, with Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, the winged-footed stars of "The Gay Divorcee".

Dealing with the intriguing theme of love in a Paris gown shop, the picture combines superlative music, dancing that will challenge the "Caricoa" and the "Continental," and romance, drama and sparkling comedy. Another outstanding feature is a display of the latest in feminine fashions, modelled by twelve of America's most beautiful girls.

DELHI MINE OFFICE BURNED TO GROUND

The office, a 20x20 foot structure, at the Delhi mine near North Bloomfield was burned to the ground yesterday afternoon. The fire seemed to start in the roof and after destroying the building spread to the brush. Ten acres of ground was covered before being brought under control.

District Ranger Frank McCaslan and assistant Cantrall of North Bloomfield, and Russell Champie with a fire crew of CCC men from the Tahoe-Ukiah camp, placed the fire under control. The forest service has had two or three small fires so far this season, this is the largest.

Mr. Harding is caretaker at the Delhi mine, as the mine is closed down at present.

SAN JUAN MINE

The newly purchased Ford V8 truck purchased by the Bradley interests to handle ore from the San Juan mine, near Sweetland, is working three shifts or a 24-hour day. The company is moving in the neighborhood of 30 tons of ore per day, delivering it to the Narrow Gauge depot in Nevada City, for shipment to Tacoma. Ray Butterfield is superintendent.

THERMOMETER DROPS

Last Saturday morning the thermometer dropped to 42 degrees on Grove street and it registered 38 degrees at the Union Ice House with a light frost over the Plaza. It is stated in a lower section of Nevada City a patch of beans ready to pole were severely frost bitten.
